

RGI: Maintain round the clock social media monitoring cells

Tells States, UTs To Publish Fact-Checks In Real Time

New Delhi: The registrar general of India (RGI) has directed the state and Union Territory directorates to maintain 24x7 social media monitoring cells to track digital discussions and enable authorities to publish rebuttals and fact-checks in real time as the second phase of the Census—Population Enumeration—will begin in various states soon.

In a letter to all states and Union territories, RGI Mrinunjay Kumar Narayan also said a tableau may be showcased during next year’s Republic Day, subject to approval from the defence ministry.

Giving details of a publicity campaign to be undertaken by the RGI at different levels, Narayan said the campaign for the PE phase will not only inform people about the questions to be canvassed during field visits, but will also educate them on accessing and completing the digital self-enumeration (SE) module, where the public can fill in their information in the comfort of their residences.

“For the successful enumeration in Phase-II, it is crucial that adequate publicity measures, similar to the HLO phase, are undertaken to raise awareness among people about the importance of the Census exercise and its utility in shaping the nation. Such efforts also establish rapport with people, ensuring a warm and positive reception for enumerators during household visits,” he said. The directive comes as preparations for the population enumeration phase gather pace following the completion of house-listing operations.

The campaign will seek to inform people about the questions the enumerators will ask during household visits, explain how to complete the digital self-enumeration module and reassure the respondents that the information provided by them is legally confidential under the Census Act.

The planned publicity drive will combine national mass-media advertising with state-level campaigns and district-level outreach.

National efforts will include advertisements in newspapers, television commercials, digital cinema screens, mobile applications and transport systems, as well as explanatory videos, myth-busting content and WhatsApp and SMS outreach.

The RGI has also outlined a clear segregation of publicity modes across administrative levels to ensure a comprehensive 360-degree media coverage without duplication, to the extent possible. The state and Union Territory directorates will launch state-specific organic publicity tailored to regional requirements, the letter said.

“DCOs are advised to maintain effective 24/7 social media monitoring cells to track digital narratives around-the-clock for any adverse comments, false narratives, or local misinterpretations, so that authoritative rebuttals and fact-checks can be published in real time through state/UT machinery,” it said.

The Census, the eighth since Independence, is being conducted in two phases -- the first stage is known as house listing and housing census, and the second stage is the population enumeration.

The decennial exercise, scheduled for 2021, was postponed due to the Covid-19 outbreak. The Union Cabinet has approved Rs 11,718 crore for conducting the Census, which will be the biggest headcount exercise.

Khaira immediately get hold of copies and make them public.”

Ghuman was earlier alleged to have skipped two summons from CBI on Oct 7 and 9. The first time, CMO said no summons was received, and in the second instance Ghuman issued a legal response to the notice but did not turn up in person.

On Oct 12, SC granted Ghuman interim protection from coercive action in the case and directed him to fully cooperate with the investigation. The very next day, ED, too, registered a case in Jalandhar, adding an alleged money-laundering angle to the probe.

The investigation stems specifically from a CBI case registered under directives from Punjab and Haryana high court. The agency has to meet a court-mandated deadline to file its comprehensive investigation report by Dec 4. The probe centres on allegations of influence-peddling, tender manipulation, real estate irregularities and a “cash for posting and transfer” network.

RSS: Left parties have right to set up bookstalls

Kolkata: Left parties have the right to set up bookstalls, and those vandalising them are cowards, RSS leader Jishnu Basu said on Monday amid allegations by leftists that their stalls near Durga Puja pandals have been destroyed by people claiming allegiance to the saffron brigade. He asserted that the ethos of Hindutva allows others to express their opinion, and said, “Those indulging in such acts are indirectly causing severe damage to an ideology.”

Maintaining that the people of West Bengal united against the pride of power in the assembly elections and defeated the Trinamool Congress to bring the BJP to power, Basu said, “It is our duty to respect people’s mandate.”

“The CPI(M), CPI and SUCI have the right to set up bookstalls, unless they are indulging in any act that may endanger a life,” said the RSS Saha Khetra Prachar Pramukh of South Bengal. There is no masculinity in vandalising bookstalls, and those who attack these stalls are cowards, Basu said. The Left parties have claimed that bookstalls set up by them near Durga puja pandals have been vandalised.

He prayed 12 years for sons. One night at Gwalior temple took both

Bereaved families after the Sheetla Mata Mandir truck accident in Gwalior

Bhopal: For 12 years, Vidyaram Tyagi and his family turned to faith. They visited temple after temple and performed rituals, praying for a child. When those prayers were finally answered, he became a father to two sons and a daughter. Aman and Lav were the children of that long wait. On Sunday, both were taken from him.

Aman (15) and Lav (13) were killed along with their uncle, Ashok, when a speeding truck went out of control and ploughed into devotees near Gwalior’s Sheetla Mata Temple early Sunday. Fifteen people died in the crash.

Vidyaram (55) is originally from Har Gangoli village in Jaura area of MP’s Morena district and has been living in Gadaipura, Gwalior, for some time.

“For the family, Aman and Lav were not just sons. They were the answer to 12 years of religious rituals and prayers. Every year of that wait is what makes the loss so hard to bear. The family had waited years for the joy of raising children, and the crash took two of them in a single night,” said a local villager.

Ashok, Vidyaram’s younger brother, was a labourer at a private factory in Gadaipura and deeply attached to his nephews. When Aman and Lav insisted on going with him to the temple that night, he first refused. Their repeated requests eventually persuaded him, and he took them along. Hours later, all three were among the dead.

Relatives took the bodies to the family’s ancestral village, Jaura, in Morena district. The sight of three funeral biers from one household left relatives and villagers inconsolable.

The crash claimed other families too. Pawan Rathore and his close friend Hemant Rathore, residents of Shivnagar, who worked at the same factory, also died.

According to their neighbour Ganeshram, Hemant died on the spot. Pawan, severely injured, succumbed later. A wheel had run over his leg and he was bleeding heavily, yet he managed to call his sister, who lived nearby, and other relatives to tell them about the accident. His condition worsened before his family could reach him.

For his relatives, that brief conversation is the last memory they have of his voice.

Jhota’s wife to represent family in panel meets

Bhim Singh added that his daughter-in-law, Manpreet Kaur, will represent the family in committee meetings, expressing annoyance at not being consulted. Kaur urged the public to respect the family’s sentiments and avoid misinterpreting their statements.

Shah announced his visit in a post on X in Punjabi on Monday, writing: “The AAP govt has left no stone unturned in pushing Punjab into the quagmire of drugs... I will meet the families of those individuals who, under the patronage of the AAP govt, have recently had to sacrifice their lives for raising their voices against the smugglers peddling white powder, on Tuesday (Oct 20) in Mansa, Sangrur, and Gurdaspur...”

Meanwhile, state finance minister Harpal Singh Cheema demanded that the BJP-led Centre and Gujarat govt clarify what concrete measures have been taken against criminal networks tied to Lawrence Bishnoi. Cheema claimed Bishnoi is being treated like a “state guest” while lodged in Sabarnati Jail.

Referring to the firing incident targeting actor Tiger Shroff in Mumbai, Cheema said, “Concerns are growing over the security of prominent actors, businessmen, and ordinary citizens. People linked to Lawrence Bishnoi have taken responsibility for the incident. There is need for an impartial probe in the matter.”

‘Will cooperate’: Ghuman says CBI called him again on Oct 22

He said, “The ED itself stated in its panchnama that the bags were recovered on the road. The raid began at 7 am, and his family was taken into custody by 7.10 am. Since the bags were allegedly thrown at 8.30 am, how could they possibly have thrown them? Either someone tossed the bags out of panic, or it was a ‘drama’ by some agency.”

Ghuman said he had been called again on Oct 22. “I will come again and cooperate (with CBI),” he said.

Alleging an attempt to intimidate certain individuals, Ghuman said he urged CBI officials to conduct a fair probe, expressing confidence that an impartial investigation would promptly get them a clean chit.

Hitting out at opposition parties, Ghuman said, “There has been no corruption—this is purely propaganda to defame us. Whenever the ED or CBI issues a letter, opposition leaders like Bikram Singh Majithia and Sukhpal Singh

Hry eligibility test mandatory for TGTs

Opposing the petitions, the state through additional advocate general Sanjiv Kaushik submitted that under the Right to Education Act, 2009, HTET/STET was an essential qualification for appointment as a TGT, prescribing it for the higher post of PGT, including through direct recruitment, could not be considered arbitrary.

The requirement also avoided an anomaly between the qualifications applicable to the two cadres.

“Keeping in view the facts and circumstances recorded hereinbefore coupled with the settled principle of law, no ground for interference by this court is made out,” the bench held, dismissing the petitions.

teachers teaching students up to Class 8.

The court further observed that, under the 2012 Rules, PGT posts were filled through direct recruitment and promotion from the TGT cadre. Since HTET/STET was an essential qualification for appointment as a TGT, prescribing it for the higher post of PGT, including through direct recruitment, could not be considered arbitrary.

The state counsel further submitted that PGTs also teach students of Classes 7 and 8 and relied on the Supreme Court’s judgment in Anjanum Ishaat E. Taleem Trust versus State of Maharashtra, contending that the Supreme Court had held that the eligibility test was mandatory for
