hall drew a massive crowd to see the actor, leading to chaos and the tragic death of 37-year-old Revathi and critical injuries to her son. The stampede sparked widespread public outrage and raised questions about safety protocols at large public events.

Arjun was arrested Friday along with three others in connection with the overcrowding at the theatre and the subsequent stampede. Two other accused were also granted interim bail and released Saturday morning.

While the high court granted Arjun interim bail for four weeks late that night, jail authorities delayed his release, citing procedural norms. "The court's order reached the prison almost at midnight. However, it is the established practice in all state jails to release prisoners the same

This procedural delay forced Arjun to spend the night in jail, angering his legal team and fans. His lawyer Ashok Reddy said: "We will pursue legal action against this illegal detention."

Prison officials defended their action, underscoring safety concerns. "If the court requires an explanation, we will provide it," said a source in the prison department.

Arjun was released at 6am but exited the jail discreetly through the rear gate to avoid the crowds of fans gathered at the main entrance. His personal convoy of cars, stationed in advance, whisked him away. Jail sources said Arjun was treated like any other inmate during his detention. He shared accommodation with two other accused, ate regular prison food, and made no special demands. "He conducted

At home, Arjun was welcomed with emotional scenes as his wife Sneha Reddy embraced him. Family members, including actor Chiranjeevi's wife Surekha and his father Allu Aravind, expressed relief. Speaking about the tragedy, Arjun said: "It is unfortunate that a woman lost her life. I will personally support the family."

He also thanked his admirers, saying: "I love my fans."

Telangana Congress president Mahesh Kumar Goud defended the police action and dismissed claims of favouritism, despite Arjun's family connection to CM A Revanth Reddy. "Everyone is equal before the law," he said. "No one should harbour any misgivings about police filing a case against Arjun and his arrest. The law was allowed to take its own course."

Sub-adult tiger found dead on Bhopal highway, hit-and-run suspected

Bhopal: A tiger was run over and killed in a hit-and-run on Bhopal-Jabalpur highway, around 40km from Bhopal on Friday night. The carcass of the sub-adult tiger was found on the road by a patrolling squad. This comes a day after a tiger was found to have been killed in a wire trap laid by poachers. Police are checking toll booth records and CCTV cameras along the road to identify the vehicle, said additional principal chief conservator of forests (APCCF) L Krishnamurteey. TNN
