We are working on joint plans: KMM on joining forces with SKM

Chandigarh: Exploring a possibility of unity, leaders of Kisan Mazdoor Morcha (KMM) and Samyukta Kisan Morcha (SKM) came up together during a meeting at Kisan Bhawan in Chandigarh on Tuesday. KMM convenor Sarwan Singh Pandher said that both the groups soon can organise joint programs under the common minimum program. "We have put forth our points. The leaders of SKM have sought time to discuss this among themselves."

KMM, in a press release also criticised Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann for not taking the flood situation seriously. "Farmers across the state have suffered huge losses, but the government has failed to rise to the situation," the farmers' body said. Adding to it, Pandher also said the government should give Rs 70,000 per acre to the affected farmers and Rs 7,000 per acre as compensation to the labourers. KMM also demanded the state waive off all instalments and half-yearly interest including bank loans of farmers and labourers who suffered losses due to floods. ENS

Mann: TN CM Breakfast Scheme is good initiative, will take it to Punjab

DIVYA GOYAL GOPAL
LUDHIANA, AUGUST 26

PUNJAB CHIEF Minister Bhagwant Mann Tuesday said the AAP government will consider replicating Tamil Nadu's free breakfast scheme for school-children in his state.

Mann was attending the launch of Tamil Nadu Chief Minister's Breakfast Scheme's expansion to urban schools in Chennai. He interacted with children and served them breakfast along with his Tamil Nadu counterpart M K Stalin. "I feel elated attending this event today. Under the scheme, children in rural areas of Tamil Nadu have been receiving fresh breakfast, and now children in urban schools will also benefit from this initiative. I congratulate the Tamil Nadu government for launching such a scheme," the CM said.

Addressing Stalin from the stage, Mann said, "I promise you sir, I will also consider it in my cabinet to start this scheme in Punjab also."

Tamil Nadu Deputy CM Udhayanidhi Stalin and Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann serve food to students during the inauguration of the expansion of 'Chief Minister's Breakfast Scheme' to government-aided schools in urban areas across Tamil Nadu, in Chennai, on Tuesday. PTI

Tamil Nadu launched the scheme in 2022 in a bid to reduce malnutrition, improve attendance, and enhance the learning ability of young children. Acknowledging its benefits, Mann said, "A hungry child cannot learn. If a child is hungry, then his or her potential and energy to learn and grasp declines. His or her attention is then only towards eliminating that hunger."

Mann said while the Centre's Pradhan Mantri Poshan Shakti Nirman (PM POSHAN) midday meal scheme is good, working women still face the challenging task of waking up early in the morning to prepare breakfast for their children.

"They first prepare food, make the child eat and then send them to school. So, it is a very good initiative by Tamil Nadu to launch such a scheme to provide breakfast to the children in schools," said Mann.

Over 18 lakh children from upper kindergarten (UKG) to Class 8 are currently served mid-day meals in schools under the PM-POSHAN scheme in Punjab during lunch break.

Taking to X, Stalin reciprocated to Mann's statement and wrote: "The scheme in Tamil Nadu continues to inspire beyond our borders. Punjab CM Bhagwant Mann honoured us by attending the CM Breakfast Scheme expansion event today. I thank him warmly for his esteemed presence. After witnessing its impact here, he said that he would consider introducing a similar scheme in Punjab and hold discussions on it, and we are grateful for that. His words fill my heart with joy and pride, and I eagerly look forward to the day when it takes shape in Punjab."

Meanwhile, Mann came under fire from Opposition for attending the event in Tamil Nadu and "abandoning his people in distress" when at least ten 10 districts in Punjab are grappling under massive floods amid heavy torrential rains. From Pathankot to Gurdaspur, Hoshiarpur to Ferozepur, people posted videos of how swelled river waters were entering their villages, breaching dussi bandhs as the aid from administration remained almost negligible.

Residents also flayed the CM for leaving the state during floods. Ludhiana-based RTI activist Kuldeep Singh Khaira wrote: "Half of Punjab is drowned and Chaudhary saab has moved to the South to form another government."
